" MUCH YET REMAINS CN-UNG." (From the London New Monthly Augustine.)
SHAKSPEARE'S CRAB PREZ.

To Shakspeare's mighty line, Let's drink with heart and soul:

Twill give a zest divine, The humble he the bowl:

Then drink while I essny, In alipshod, careless rhymo,

A legendary lay Of Willy's golden time.

One below summer night,
As Stratford yeomen tell,
Our Will, the roys'tring wight,
Beneath a crab tree fell;

And sunk in deep repose,
The tipsy time beguil'd,
Till Dan Apollo rose
Upon his greatest child.

Since then all people vow'd

Since then all people vow'd

The tree had wondrous pow'r;

The tree had wondrous pow. With scase, with speech endow 'Twould prattle by the hour; Tho' scatter'd fer about, Its remains still would blab; Mind, ere this fact you doubt,— "I felt." thus spoke the tree,

Along my verdant blood, A quick'ning sense did shoot,

Expanding ev'ry bad, And rip aing all my fruit.

And rip ning all my trait

(What sounds did move the sir,
Around ine and above!

The yell of mad despair,
The burning sigh of love!

Ambition, guilt possess'd,
Saspicion on the rack,
The ringing laugh and jest,
Begot by sherris-sack!

Since then, my branches full
Of Shakspeare's vital heat,
My fruit once crude and dull,
Became as honey aweet.
And, when o'er plain and hill,
Each tree was leafless seen,
My boughs did flourish atill
In everlasting grees.'
And thus our maril food

And thus our moral food.

And thus our moral food,
Does Shakspeare leaven still,
Enriching all the good,
And less'ning all the ill;
Thus! by his bounty, shed
Like balm from anngel's wing,
Tho' winter scathe our head.
Our spirits dance with spring.
It may be necessary to state, that these lines have the authodty of a legend, current at Stratford-upon-Ason, though, probably,
not generally known.

POLITICS. (From the Globe.)

When the principal leaders and newspaper organs of the Proteus, or Federal party, professed to have relin quished their old and cherished policy of a Bank of the United States, we knew that this was but another turn of the old coat, and warned our friends that this monstrous institution was only held in abeyance, to be brought forward again whenever the proper period for reinstating it arrived.

That period has come. The Virginia elections are over, and the mask is discarded, as no longer necessary to cheat the citizens of that ancient Commonwealth -We foresaw, we knew it must and would be so. A Bank of the United States is indispensable to the pur poses of the Federal party, and that party is indispensa ble to the creation of a Bank. They cannot exist with-out mutual aid and co operation. No Bank can possibly be re established without Federal ascendancy Executive and Legislative branches of the General Government, and no such ascendancy can be attained with out the aid of the great interests concentrated in such a bank as the late Bank of the United States, which are still held in combination, ready to be transformed into their original likeness. Such an institution is still the favorite panacea of those of the merchants who constitute the active agents of Federalism, as any one will find by conversing with them five minutes.

If other evidences than these palpable bonds of mutual interest and necessity were required to prove the determination, if possible, to reinstate the late Bank of the U. S. as the "great regulator and balance-wheel" of the credit system, they may be found in the paragraphs extracted from the New York Evening Star, and other confidential organs of the Federal party, which were gi ven in the Globe a few days ago. These are the dawnings of a revival of the old cherished project, never abaned, and never to be abandoned, which was only laid aside for the moment, to full the apprehensions of Virginia, until the elections were over, and is now brought forward to exercise its influence on other pending elec-

We had always our doubts of the reality of the schism between Mr. Ciay and Mr. Biddle: Two such experienced politicians would scarcely, we conceived, thus dissolve partnership at the moment their co operation was so essential to both. We never believed Mr. Clay was really in earnest when he cried out, "HANG NICK nor that he wished that good gentleman to be hanged. We could not bring our minds to the con clusion that he would treat a pecuniary and political benefactor with such monstrous ingratitude. In short, we were convinced that if it was really a quarrel, the final result would be to verify the old saying, that "the falling out of lovers is the renewal of love.

It is with this object in view, that the Federalists have uniformly opposed every effirt of the Democratic Administration to settle the currency of the country on a permanent substantial basis, and thrown every obstacle in the way of placing the public moneys in a state of security, in order, by such a course of "prevention," as Mr. Webster calls this policy, to create an imaginary necessity for another "great regulator" and "balance wheel." All the uncertainties, vacillations, confusion, and difficulty, resulting from their own wayward course they ascribe to the absence of a National Bank, which they affirm is the only remedy for a state of things mainly caused by the agency of that institution. The hair of the same dog is to cure the bite and the cause of the disease is to bring about a restoration to health.

But if the signs of the times have any signification, there are other means to be resorted to, in order to prove the necessity for a revival of this institution-means once before tried, and tried in vain. WE ARE EGREGI-OUSLY MISTAKEN IF AMOTHER SUSPENSION IS NOT IN CON TEMPLATION. Every thing seems to mark the approach of such a catastrophe, which will furnish another occasion for demonstrating the necessity of "a great regulator" of the currency, and a second time be laid to the charge of the Administration.

But we warn the projectors of this cruel and malignant scheme that it will most assuredly recoil on their "The jest is somewhat stale." There is no Specie Circular to which they can ascribe the bank ruptcy, nor do any of the causes now exist which they formerly seized upon to account for the catastrophe.-The eyes of the people are opened, and they longer blind to a policy so utterly wicked and so desti tute of every patriotic feeling or motive, that they would possible, until it became so palpable as to be beyond dispute or contradiction.

But we warn this desperate and besotted party, that this second experiment on the credulity of the people this appeal once more to their "SUFFERINGS," instead of their reason, will result in consequences they little an ticipate. IT WILL BE THE DEATH BLOW OF THEIR GREAT CREDIT SYSTEM. The people will not bear a second experiment of this kind, following so directly on the heels of the first. Homan patience has its limits, and those who submit to have their pockets once picked, with to lerable resignation, will be apt to demur to a repetition of the experiment. If warnings could have any effect on a party whose whole policy consists in a series of desperate expedients without congruity or concatenation. adopted at one moment and the next abandoned in des pair—if such a party were not predestined to die of the remedies acministered by its own quack doctors—we would again and again warn them against a resort to another suspension. If they have no feeling for the people, let them look to themselves; if no regard to the honor of their country, the obligations of integrity, or the claims of justice, can restrain their experiments of human endurance, again we say let them look to themselves. They may pull down the temple, but, like Samson, they will perish under its ruins.

HONORABLE ELY MOORE -The Federal journals take a particular delight in vilifying this distinguished member of the Republican party. this concert of abuse, levelled at a man, than whom an abler, puter, and more blameless, was not to be found in ess? Is it, first, because he has raised himself by his intrinsic merits to the commanding position which he holds, from that profession, which armed Franklin in the cause of liberty? They cannot bear the idea, that one who had once been an operative printer, should en joy the honors for which they claim a sort of birthright for their parasites and pretenders. We know that there was not a man who enjoyed a higher personal regard in the House of Representatives than Mr. Moore, a consi deration secured to him by his acknowledged ability, purity of life, and courtesy of manners. His argument against the constitutionality of a National Bank, was pronounced by one of his opponents, the strongest which has been delivered upon that question, and this is no alight praise from a disinterested source But there is another reason why he is the peculiar object of their illiberal assaults. The manly stand which he took in favor of Southern rights, cannot easily be forgiven by those who were so anxious, for political ends, to identify Abolitionism with Democracy. His able speech upon this momentous question was hailed by the true friends of the South, as a manly and efficient vindication of their institutions from the calumnies of faction and fanaticism combined. It was, an argument, decidedly more original and conclusive than the mu ed so by the Charleston Mercury, which presented both speeches to its readers, that they might be compared and fairly judged. Southern politicians should be the last Lower Canada. The Montreal to join in the senseless hue and cry against Mr Moore.

THE VICE PRESIDENCY. The Western Globe, printed at Covington, Ky, brings us the following letter from Colonel Johnson such a letter as might be expected from one who has so long and faithfully served his country. From it, office holders and office seekers may learn lessons of independent patriotism The doctrine that too many politicians inculcate, that they and they alone must be kept in office or the country will be ruined, should be discountenanced by every true Democrat — Ohio Statesman.

(From the Western Globe.)

A friend has handed us the following letter from the Hon R. M. Johnson, which will serve for his reply to the many letters he receives on the subject:

White Sulphur, Scott County, Ky,

June Sth. 1839.

DEAR SIR: I have received your favor in which you have requested to know whether I had expressed a wish to decline being a candidate for the office I now fill, and if not, whether I was willing to serve a second term if elected; at the same time giving it as your opinion that it was due to myself, and particularly to my friends, that I should no longer remain silent, as some diversity of opinion existed as to my wishes and feelings in relation to the second convass for the Vice Presidency.

I have avoided the subject of your letter as much as well could, and was in hopes that it would not have been considered necessary that I should take a different course But letters which I have received from other friends, on the same subject as yours, have induced me to answer

I have never authorized the declaration that I was unwilling to be the Democratic candidate for a second term, if my fellow citizens desired it. ! have no reasons which did not exist at my first nomination, why I should refuse the same station if re elected I wish it, however, dis-tinctly understood that I have always declared to all with whom I have conversed on this head, that I was not only withing, but would most cheerfully retire, if it should be ascertained that it was the wish of those who elected me that another person should be selected to fill the place. In my opinion, the office of Vice President is one hat should not be sought, and I do not think I have any right to be consulted, or should have any cause of complaint, if another should be chosen. I had served my fellow citizens of my native state (Kentucky) for thirty years as a member of Congress in one branch or the other, and I had retired from the arduous duties of public life. From this retirement I was called by the voice of the people to my present station. - It was conferred as a testimony of approbation for my public services, and as a mark of their highest confidence in my fidelity and political principles-so I considered when I accepted the office. Many distinguished individuals have been named as my successor If it should appear that it is the wish of the political friends with whom I have always acted that any one of them should be selected as the candidate, I shall manifest as much cheerfulness in retiring from the service of the people as I have to serve them when

With these sentiments I shall leave this subject in the hands of the people, from whom all my honors have Most respectfully,

they have requested it.

(From the Nat Gazette ) AMERICAN SILK .- [No 11] When, in my last number, I took the liberty to designate the last Congress by the denomination of Partiamen-tum indoctum, I only alluded to their want of knowledge of matters relating to silk; in everything else they may all be Solons or Lycurguses for aught I know. am no politician, and therefore, will not undertake to pass judgment on their acts of State; but I am bound to say, that the report of their Committee on Agriculture, of the 20th of April, 1838, on the subject I am treating of displays a degree of ignorance of that subject, which I did not expect to find in so respectable a body, being almost entirely made up of various accounts of successful silk culture, (which, however unimportant in themselves, could not produce any bad effects) but is wound up with the recommendation of certain "wonderful machinery," which performed what can be demonstrated physically impossible; so that the whole complicated art of reeling and throwing silk, which in Eu ope requires so much labor and expense, might be performed here with the greatest ease by a simple much moved by a child. These incredible assertions the Com mittee did not take the pains to inquire into or investigate, and what is still more astonishing is, that Congress should have sanctioned that report by adopting it, and ed the annals of the medical profession, warranted by the ordering it to be printed, without a single voice being raised againt the improbabilities that it contained, the result of which has been to create and encourage a system of speculation, which morality reprobates, and ignorance alone can palliate or excuse, and which consists in speculating upon the credulity of the people. Without and conscientiously admits that they will not. such high authority, that system would not prevail and no claims to the discovery of the "Philosopher's Stone," be acted upon to the extent that it now is, even by results and wishes nobody to believe that he sells the "Elixir pectable associations, as I shall show in the sequel. But of Life," but he DOES SAY, and he DOES BELIEVE, About fifteen or twenty years ago, a considerable exscription, which drained the Continent, and particularly the countries subject to the domination of France, of their laborers and manufacturers in every branch of trade, had is brought on by intemperance; in the wretched horrors reduced the silk business to a very low ebb, and the want of mind and body which accrue from occasional ineof that article was felt every where. The same deficien-cy was felt in West India produce, and that gave rise to the head, limbs, or side, in corrupt, sallow, and the invention of beet sugar But silk could only be obtained by the ordinary means. It began to be understood that mulberry trees could be raised and silk worms the hills of directions given with this medicine, HE reared in the most Northern States of our Union. The DOES SAY that the CAMOMILE TONIC PILLS Northern States of Europe determined to imitate us. --Mulberry trees were planted in Russia, Prussia, Holiand and Sweden. The attempt failed every where. It is needless to inquire here into the causes which produced this failure in those different countries; I shall confine myself to England, where the silk culture was also tried, but with no more success. We find, however, in the excellent works of Dr. Lardner, that there is good reason to believe that it would have succeeded, if proper measures had been adonted: for, it was found that the mulerry tree will grow in that country, that silk worms ham street, New York, and of his authorised agents in may be reared and good cocoons produced. All that town and country.

was wanted was encounagement to the silk growers by Poffice, 100 Chatham street, New York, where the was wanted was encouragement to the silk growers by the establishment of a friature and the opening of a market for cocoons. But, for what reason, I cannot tell, that was not done; the silk growers were left to themselves, the attempt failed, and the fault was laid upon the climate. But the fault was only to be ascribed to the negligence, or rather to the indefference of the influential the mulberry trees and the cocoons would produce every thing else, and there lay the mistake. How could it be expected that the people would persevere in raising ar-ticles which could find no purchasers? From England, the silk mania passed over into this publishing Manuals for the rearing of silk worms, be-lieving, as the English did, that every thing else would We even dreamt of manufactures, and would begin with that at once. We had before us the examples of Georgia and Pennsylvania in Colonial times; but that, it seems, was forgotten, and we were left to grope our way as well as we could, through a new and a plored field. It is not astonishing that we should have lost our war.

This subject will be continued in the next number. DANDOLO.

TRIAL OF MACKENZIE - An extra from the Ontario Messenger, published at Canandaigua, New York, and 21st, gives the following particulars of the trial of Mackenzie, the Patriot, for a breach of the neu-

"The trial of Wm Lyon Mackenzie, for a violation of the neutrality law of 1818, which was commenced in this village, yesterday morning, was brought to a close this on, by a verdict from the jury of guilty. "The testimony in the case was but a recapitalution of a few of those facts with which the Navy Island affair had made the whole country familiar.

"Mackenzie had no counsel; nor did he introduce any estimony, the testimony which he proposed to introduce having been deemed inadmissible. "He addressed the court and jury after the evidence was closed, in a speech about eight hours long, which was made up mostly of historical matter in reference to himself and the patriot cause, and of divers political speculations which had little or no connection with the question which was before the jury. He showed much ability, however, and his remarks were not unfrequently really eloquent. "Mr. Benton, the District Attorney, occupied about an hour in presenting the argument on the part of the "Judge Thompson charged the jury at considerable length, giving a very able and lucid exposition of the law and the facts of the case. The charge was decidedly dver e to the defendant. "The jury was out three hours. "Mackenzie heard the verdict with calmness, though it is said that he had confidently anticipated an acquittal. "The sentence of the court was pronounced upon him soon after the verdict. It was, "that he be imprisoned, during the term of eighteen months, in the county jail of Monroe county, and pay a fine of ten dollars." "The Messenger, in stating the result of the trial, pre sents the following "contrast," which is one that can-not fail to strike the reader, and to create some wonder why it is that of all the multitudinous offenders against the neutrality laws, Mackenzie, a poor and persecuted refugee, should be the only one brought to trial and con-

FAIRE DIFFERENCE -It cannot be denied that, whilst many medicines which are recommended to the public have not even the negative merit of harmlessness, there are others which it would be great injustice indeed, and spicidal prejudice, to involve, untried, in a common condemnation. And when a medicine comes endorsed with all the great names that have adornseal and signature of long and uniform success, its pro-prietor makes no unreasonable demand upon public confidence, when he claims for it a superior consideration.

The following certificate was handed to us by Mr. Van Schaick, of Albany, a highly respectable member of the community, and whose veracity cannot be doubted:

Mr. Septemius Kendall, of the town of Westerloo county of Albany, was for about 27 years troubled with a nervous and bilious affection, which for 7 years ren-dered him unable to attend to his business, and during the last three years of his illness was confined to the house. His symptoms were dizziness, pain in the head and side, palpitation of the heart, want of appetite, &c. After expending, during his confinement, nearly three hundred dollars without obtaining any permanent re-lief, he by accident noticed an advertisement of Dr. Wm. Evans' Camomile and Aperient Pills, and was consequently induced to make a trial of them. After using them about a fortnight, he was able to walk out; in four months he could attend to business, and considered his disease entirely removed. The above information was given to the subscriber by Mr. Kendall himself; there can, therefore, be no deception.

THYBIS infallible remedy has preserved hundreds of Children, when thought past recovery, from convulsions. As soon as the syrup is rubbed on the gums, the child will recover. This preparation is so innocent, so efficacious, and so pleasant, that no child will refuse to let its gums be rubbed with it. When infants are at four months, though there is no appearance of teeth, one bottle of the Syrup should be used on the gums, to open the pores. ROUKBRIDGE ALUM SPRINGS.

HE proprietors of the ALUM SPRINGS, grateful for the encouragement which they have received in former years, notwithstanding the unfinished state of their improvements, inform the public that their improve-ments are now so far completed that they are prepared o afford comfortable accommodations to from one hundred to one hundred and twenty boarders. The Alum Springs are in Rockbridge county, Va on the road from Lexingon to the Warm Springs, seventeen mi'es from the for mer and twenty miles from the latter place. There is a good turnpike road across the mountain. Good backs can be procured in Lexington on moderate terms, to con-ver stage passengers to and from these springs. These waters, for the time they have been in use, have been more celebrated than any mineral waters in Virginia, for the cure of dyspersia, chronic diseases of the stonach and liver, chronic discases in general, and all kinds if cutaneous diseases. They are said to be peculiarly fficacious in the cure of female complaints.

Several inveterate cases of scrofule have been entirely cured by the use of these waters, and we believe that ione have used them for any length of time without leriving great benefit in this hitherto almost incurable -Certificates to this effect would have been published in connection with this statement, had we not un-derstood that Dr. Goode, of the Hot Springs, was preparing for publication his opinion of the effects of these waters in the cure of this disease, and had made application to Mrs Dickinson, of Millborough Springs, for her certificate to accompany his publication.

Alum Springs. CERTIFICATES. From the Rev. Henry Ruffner, D. D., President at Washington College.

Lexisoros, May 24, 1839.

I have been requested to certify my experience of the salutary effects of the Alum Spring water. I have re-peatedly used it, and besides the good effects upon my general health, I found it peculiarly efficacious in dispelling cutaneous eruptions, and promoting a healthy acty action of the skin. No other medicine that I ever used, had so remarkable a virtue in this respect. HENRY RUFFNER.

> From the Rev. A D. Metcalf. Near Lexington, May, 24, 1839.

Meesrs J. & A. Campbell-Having for several sea-sons visited your justly celebrated springs, and having derived much advantage from the use of the water, I cheerfully add my testimony to its virtues, both that other individuals may profit as I have done by the use of the water, and that you may in some measure be rewarded for the expensive improvements and excellent accommodations you have made and provided. My disease is chronic liver affection, accompanied with cough and dyspepsia. The water uniformly appeals to the liver, with gentle action on the bowels; improves appetite and digestion, and produces a general tonic effect on the whole system. I feel well satisfied that I am indebted to a large extent to the virtue of the Alum Spring, for a considerable portion of the health and com tort I have enjoyed since I tried its efficacy. This statement is at your disposal. Respectfully,
A. D. METCALF.

LEXINGTON, June C, 1839. I do hereby certify that about the 1st January, 1833, my little boy, then about four months old, had an erup tion on his head and face, which is generally called Milk Rash; it was very troublesome and continued to grow worse, spreading over the upper part of his face. I used the prescriptions of one or two practising Physicians for several months, without any visible relief - About the 1st of May. I commenced the use of the Alum Spring water, chiefly by outward applications, when the disease immediately began to give way, and in a very short time was entirely cured, without any inconveniences following after, and the boy has continued well ever since. FAUQUIER WHITE SUIPHUR SPRINGS HE crowds that have visited these Springs, and the general satisfaction expressed, have encouraged the Company to make extensive improvements since

Besides enlarging the accommodations very much, in other respects, the former Bath House will be found greatly improved, and furnished with a copious supply of hot and cold Sulphur and Free Stone Water, and a new and elegant edifice, upon the most approved plan, will be ready by the let of July, and be equal, it is hoped, to any Bathing Establishment in our Without pretending to vie with the unequalled Warm Spring Bath, the temperature of that cel-brated fountain is at the option of the visitors, either in the centre plunging bath, or in the 14 private rooms which surround it— the whole being enclosed within the Octagon Gothic exterior, whose minarets and spires indicate the determination of the company to please the fancy and gratify the tastes of the invalids, as well as the votaries of pleasure.

The extraordinary virtues of the waters, proved in numerous instances-the salubrity of the country around, in full view of the mountains, supplying the finest meats, vegetables and fruits—its ready access to the seaboard, being within 50 miles of the District of Colum-bia and 35 of Fredericksburg—the elegant ball-room, adorned with new magnificent chandeliers and resounding with the strains of a most delightful band of mu-Anatomical purposes, and the reduced price at which sie-the extensive buildings-the noble portico- the imthey are furnished, will enable the student to acquire an proved grounds and shady walks, refreshed with jets d'ean, present attractions to the people which it will not To secure the best wines, liquors, attendants and servants, every attention has been paid. The roads have been improved. A costly bridge over the Rappaliannock within a few hundred yards of the Spring, is in rapid progress to completion.

New and elegant stages run daily between Washington City and the Springs, leaving each place early in the morning, and arriving at the Springs at 4 o'clock, and at Washington in time for the Baltimore cars of the same ance, &= , can be obtained in this city for four dollars day. This line continues to Louisa Courthouse daily, to Charlottesville. It leaves the Springs at 5 in the morning, and runs that evening to Louisa Courthouse to the Springs, and thence tri weekly to Winchester.

The Springs will be ready for the reception of company on the 15th of June. On the 4th of July, the De-claration of independence will be read, and at the earnest solicitation of the Company, Mr. Jno. S. Pendleton, the distinguished delegate from Rappaliannock, has consented to deliver an Oration. The Music and the Dance will aid to the attractions of the occasion.

[From Charlestonen.] prepared to receive Visiters The Company have recently made various improvements suggested by the experience of their first season. The accommodations the last year being found insufficient for the number of visiters, extensive additions have been made to the buildings, and the whole establishment otherwise improved and embellished. Besides the Warm Eaths, which will be much improved, large Floating Baths are being constructed, calculated to furnish the most ce-lightful river bathing both for ladies and gentlemen.

The surpassing beauty of these Springs, great bend of the majestic Shenandoah River, at the foot of the Blue Ridge Mountain, as well as the long established superiority of the waters, need not again b more than adverted to. These, together with its great facility of access from Baltimore, Philadelphia, the Dis trict, &c., by Railroad and Canal, render it one of the most agreeable, healthful and convenient reserts during the heats of Summer.

Competent Managers, Servants, Music, Pleasure and Fishing Boats, &c , are provided, and the Company assure the public that no effort or expense will be spared to render their Establishment equal to any other, either for genteel accommodation, rational amusement, of healthful enjoyment.

These Springs are reached in a day's ride from Balti-
